Floods in West Virginia. Williamson, W Va., June 26.—There is no longer any doubt that the list of dead, the result of the recent flood, will exceed one hundred. Farties reached here this evening from the upper end of the flooded district, bringing the first authentic information received from the scene of disaster. The section visited by the flood was thickly settled, but as the population consisted chiedly of miners who were at work at the time, the large majority of the dead are women and children, and thrilling stories of rescue are told. At Eckman a mother clubbed a huge pillar of a railway frestle, holding to here breast her only child. Her home was washed away, but the mother and child were saved.

There was little to chose between the different companies and as squad after squad of the girls went through their drill with the machine like movements of veterans, the spectators were worked into enthusi-asm, and each company was greeted with well deserved applaise, as they wheeled off the grounds. The different compan-les looked very pretty, each having a distinctive color. Rev. Baugh Allen then rose to make the presentation. He stated that he had been requested to present the cup to No. 3 company, Miss Woodill, commander. He pointed out that the companies had run each other close, and thought that a consolation prize should be offered. He commented on the drilling, and stated that the brisk step of the girls was very noticeable. The Canadian army, he said, had a brilliant future before it if the boys could drill half as well as the girls had done. Mr, Allen then stated that the trustees had requested him to thank Major Ross.

Boundary Deposits.

Boundary Deposits. Dr. Ladoux, of the firm of Ladoux & Co., samplers of matte and bullion, and geologist, mineralogist and smelter-man of international reputation, has been visiting the Boundary and was shown through the mines of Phoenix camp by Jay P. Graves and William Yolen Wil-bams, superintendent of the Granby company's mines. When interviewed re-serve enthusiastic over the mineral fea-tures of this district. "The first thing that suprised and gratified me," said he, "was the fact that I had no difficulty in sizing up the formation, or, in other words, the man-ner in which the country is mineral-ized.

ized. "It would seem to me, after examining the different cuts where the railway has opened up the ore bodies, that the ori-ginal mineral source of Phoenix camp was a succession of porphyry dikes, which dip vertically. I noted that the character of the mineralization on each side of the creek at Phoenix was great-te different.

Pearson, Limited. At High Wycombe in Buchingham-shire, an enumerator found that the do-mestic tabby had been included in the list by the householder. It was de-scribed as "Jim," the relationship to head of family being "lodger." The en-try then stated that he was of male sex, single, aged one year last birthday, and his occupation was given as "monte-catcher, worker on own account," "line firmitica" nil. The head of the family did not intend this as a joke, but re-parded it as part of his duty to number the animal as one of the inmates.
